

Imp Train!

British Rail introduced a special train, the 'Imp Special', in October 1963. It could carry a 100 cars at a time, being a quarter of a mile long (400 meters). These overnight trains travelled from Linwood to the Midlands.

Text: www.imps4ever.info/linwood/linwood.html. Photos supplied by Steve Yates

